

Extract from:
Yves Bertoncini and António Vitorino,
"Reforming Europe's governance. For a more legitimate and effective federation of nation states",
Studies & Reports No. 105, Notre Europe – Jacques Delors Institute, September 2014.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

FOREWORD by Philippe de Schoutheete	6
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY	9
INTRODUCTION
WHAT POLITICAL AND INSTITUTIONAL CHANGES FOR THE EU AND THE EMU?	18
1. Consolidating the EU, beyond the Treaty of Lisbon	21
1.1. Improving the legitimacy of the exercise of the EU's powers	21
1.1.1. Dispelling the myth that 80% of laws are of Community origin	22
1.1.2. Improving the separation of the legislative and regulatory spheres	24
1.1.3. Less intrusive Community laws	27
1.1.4. The right of legislative initiative: priority to the citizens	30
1.2. A more transparent European Parliament	31
1.2.1. Majority thresholds need to be lowered	31
1.2.2. More decision making powers, fewer resolute activities	35
1.3. A Council of ministers with a higher profile and greater effectiveness	38
1.3.1. Transparency akin to that of the European Parliament in the legislative sphere	39
1.3.2. Fixed-term presidencies rather than a rotating presidency	40
1.3.3. More qualified majority voting	41

1.4. A more vertical and collegial Commission	43
1.4.1. On the human level: a well-composed Commission	44
1.4.2. On the organisational level: a more functional college based on clusters	45
1.4.3. A potential legal consolidation of these functional developments: more power for the president and the vice-presidents of the Commission	48
2. Moving beyond the crisis: completing the Economic and Monetary Union	50
2.1. Clarifying the allocation of competences and powers within the EMU	51
2.1.1. The "International Monetary Fund regime" (to bail out the "countries under programme")	53
2.1.2. The "United Nations regime" (to control national fiscal excesses and macro-economic excessive imbalances)	55
2.1.3. The "hyper-OECD regime" (to monitor economic and social policies of member states)	56
2.1.4. The "World Bank regime" (to promote national structural reforms)	58
2.2. Improving the governance of the euro area	60
2.2.1. Regular summits for the euro area	60
2.2.2. A Eurogroup with a full-time president	61
2.2.3. The Commission's hybrid role	61
2.2.4. Stronger European services for the governance of the euro area	62
2.3. Strengthening the euro area's parliamentary dimension	63
2.3.1. A key issue: national parliamentary control over governments	64

2.3.2. A "Euro area subcommittee" in the European Parliament	66
2.3.3. A fully-fledged interparliamentary conference for the EMU	67
2.3.4. Sharing out tasks among parliaments in a functional way	68
2.4. Organising differentiation around the euro area	69
2.4.1. Enhanced cooperation, a priority tool for differentiation	69
2.4.2. A budget and laws for the euro area	70
CONCLUSION
A GRADUAL ADJUSTMENT OF POLITICAL PRACTICE AND OF THE TREATIES	72
BIBLIOGRAPHY	73
ON THE SAME THEMES...	74
AUTHORS	75